

LESSON TEN

CLEARING THE DIVINE SOUL BLUEPRINT

Clearing is absolutely the simplest part of Soul Realignment® work! It is also one of the most beneficial aspects of this work.

Obviously, we cannot “clear” actual karma. Since karma is created third-dimensionally through action and choice, it must also be resolved at that same dimensional level. After all, our client is not going to wake up tomorrow morning in totally changed circumstances. While we cannot give the client a clean karmic slate third-dimensionally, the fifth-dimensional aspect of our Divine Soul Blueprint and beyond is another matter.

Remember that the fifth dimension is governed by intent. If the client wants to resolve negative blocks and restrictions within their Divine Soul Blueprint and restore it to its original state at the fifth-dimensional level, then they can. If we have the consciousness, then we can return our fifth-dimensional Divine Soul Blueprint to its original state, fifth-dimensionally. And because all dimensional aspects are connected, we also end up affecting the sixth- and seventh-dimensional aspects and beyond!

This is why it's so very important that the client understands who they are at Soul-level, as well as what blocks and restrictions are present and how they created them, through choice. It is only through consciousness that clearing work is effective. The efficacy of clearing work is governed by the client's consciousness as well as your own. However, whether fifth-dimensional clearing work is effective is ultimately up to the client.

If the client didn't need consciousness in order to be able to intend the restoration of their original Divine Soul Blueprint, then we wouldn't have to give them the session information at all. "Clearing" is really just the result of your client willing the blocks and intentions to be resolved fifth-dimensionally for themselves. Because we were hired by our client to help them align to their Divine self-expression, we have a mandate to add our own consciousness to the efficacy of the clearing process.

The client can at all times reject the clearing work we do. That's why we can perform all clearing requests before we even talk to the client. The intent is just held in the client's Record until the client agrees to the process.

All you have to do is access the client's Records as you would for any Soul Realignment work, and speak the clearing requests included in your written materials. I suggest you say them out loud, because what matters here is intent. We do want you to focus your intention during this process and speaking out loud does so more effectively. Over time, you may no longer feel the need to speak the clearing requests out loud, but I suggest doing so for at least your first twenty or so sessions.

The clearing requests are very straightforward. I recommend completing the clearing requests as soon as you're done working in the client's Record and have gotten all the information, including full Soul stories for your client. All these requests do is support the client with your consciousness and clarity of intention. The clearing work doesn't technically happen until you speak with the client, and they agree to it being done.

You cannot effectively clear without having uncovered your client's Soul stories. Remember, your consciousness as to what choices the client made is important to the efficacy of the clearing work, as well. When you talk to your client in your session, you can tell them that you have already placed the intent of the clearing work into their Record, to be held there until they agree and choose it to be done.

Intent takes absolutely no effort. Neither you nor your client has to "do" anything to activate the clearing work. The exception here is clearing Soul Loss. Because the client has essentially "amputated" parts of their own Divine Soul Blueprint, the client also has to reintegrate and heal their own Divine Soul Blueprint back into integrity.

I have included access in your members area to a video process that the client can do to restore the integrity of their Divine Soul Blueprint. You can give them access to this process. Please note that they need to watch and listen to this video process, every day, for seven days in a row. It is only two minutes long. There is “energetic repatterning” embedded both in the visual and auditory aspects of this video process that are important for its efficacy. Please let the client know that merely listening or watching will not create the desired results. They must do both.

We have to involve the client’s physical aspect in the restoration of their Divine Soul Blueprint, because having a part of ourselves missing will of course affect every dimensional aspect of our Being! There is no process for you to clear Soul Loss on the client’s behalf - this is up to them entirely.

CLEARING HOMEWORK

Unfortunately, just intention by itself is not very satisfying to the client’s ego when it comes to clearing work! This is why we also give the client “homework” to do. They receive a version of our clearing requests from you, to read out loud on their own behalf for twenty-one days in a row.

There is a general clearing request, and a place to insert additional requests, depending on what blocks and restrictions showed up for your clients. You are receiving all of these clearing “homework” request contained in a zip file in your online members area - please copy and paste them together as appropriate for your client into a single document, and email it to them after your session, along with the Soul Loss process if necessary.

With the exception of the Soul Loss process, the client clearing homework is not a necessary part of the clearing work. It's actually far more important that they make actual new choices in their lives. However, the client clearing homework is a very effective way of opening the client's mental body - especially the subconscious mind - to the effects of the clearing work.

You can explain to the client that the clearing happens fifth-dimensionally through intention. However, they will more effectively integrate the clearing work at the level of the conscious and subconscious mind if they also do their homework. It will always be up to the client whether they want to do the clearing homework. As always, they create their own experience, through choice. Please don't attach as to whether they follow through.

If your client needs to do the process for Soul Loss, please have them do that particular process at least once, before doing their other homework. If a client skips a day for either process, have them start over. Consistency is important when we are using these processes to create vibrational shifts at the mental, subconscious, and physical levels.

The reason we have the client do their "homework" process for twenty-one days in a row is that it takes this much repetition for the subconscious mind to be permanently affected.

We do not have to assign any "homework" for a property clearing. If the client wants to "do" something, they can feel free to smudge the property with sage, but it is not necessary to do so.

HOW CLEARING WORKS

Once the client intends the clearing to be done, their Divine Soul Blueprint is restored to its original state at their fifth-dimensional aspect and above. This is temporary! If the client just keeps doing what they have always done, they will just create brand-new blocks and restrictions based on the same old negative karmic patterns.

What the clearing does, however, is allow for a tremendous temporary inflow of vital force energy! After all, we just unblocked the flow of vital force energy through the client's Divine Soul Blueprint from the fifth-dimensional aspect on up.

How the client responds to this inflow of vital force energy varies hugely. Ideally, this inflow of vital force energy makes it much, much easier for the client to take new action. If they are open to change, the vital force energy they receive serves to realign some of their thought processes, which makes taking new action much easier. Of course, the mental consciousness we created during the session serves to prepare the client's mind to think differently about who they are.

Many clients feel incredibly energized and invigorated after their sessions. Some of them also feel a shift while doing their homework, because it's like getting an infusion of their own vital force energy and their own Divine nature! This can be a bit dangerous! Some clients love the feeling of doing the clearing homework so much that this is all they do.

They get attached to the temporary availability of vital force energy. Some clients even want to do keep doing the homework beyond the twenty-one days. Please discourage them from doing so. Divine self-expression doesn't just happen to us through energy clearing. The client must make new choices to create new, positive karmic patterns and align their human experience to their Divine Soul Blueprint in a lasting way.

Please let your clients know about the temporary opportunity that our clearing work represents. We don't want them to think they are "done" just because they feel differently for a while.

If the client is emotionally and mentally very attached to the choices they are currently making, and if they are in massive resistance, then clearing work can make them quite emotional.

There can be some energetic "build up" and turbulence as vital force energy collides with a mental or emotional body that is clinging to its egoic self-identification and just doesn't want to accept responsibility or the need to make new choices. Occasionally, the client's egoic self-image is also very entrenched and they come to a session expecting to be told what they already think of themselves!

If your client finds that they are emotional, or are having trouble sleeping, or feel any other kind of turmoil, tell them to keep doing the homework. More importantly, tell them to make the new choices you discussed within the session. This will immediately relieve any discomfort.

Beyond this advice, we must detach from what the client does. Occasionally, clients do not take the opportunity that clearing work offers them. However, no harm is ever done through clearing work. The client will just decide they do not want to do the work and their Divine Soul Blueprint will once again block and restrict vital force energy to the level it was before your session. Your client will feel everything is “back to normal.” Of course, this means they will also continue to create the same circumstances.

Most clients are tremendously served by the inflow of vital force energy created by our clearing work. Because we are receiving the energetic qualities that also make up who we actually are, the vital force energy literally energetically reminds us of our Divine nature. If a client just makes a few small new choices that create alignment, that increase in vital force energy will become permanent. The more vital force energy we align to, the more alignment we create, the more vital force energy we have access to, the more alignment we create. Sometimes our sessions instigate massive life changes for our clients.

Occasionally, we we are presenting our session to someone other than the Soul we are working with. For example, we may be presenting a young child’s session to their parent. Young children really don’t have a fully formed egoic self-image. They will simply align themselves to the inflow of vital force energy as much as their circumstances allow. For non-participating adults, the efficacy of the clearing depends on their overall intention to change or receiving assistance in transformation. However, over six to twelve months, we occasionally see significant changes even in non-participating adult clients.

If, for example, you are presenting a session to the wife and are accessing and clearing the husband’s Soul, and he is completely closed to change in general ... there’s just not much our clearing work will do for him!

If the person we are presenting to wants to do clearing homework on behalf of their children, a disabled elderly person or anyone else they have responsibility for, they certainly can do so (although it's not necessary ... but sometimes parents want to DO something.) In this case, it's best that it be read out loud in the presence of the person it is for.

The exception here is Soul Loss. Ask the parent to play the process in the presence of the child on a computer or tablet. Even if the child isn't really watching, it will have an effect on them.

We do not give clearing homework to our clients to do on behalf of non-participating adults. It simply wouldn't have any effect.
